THE NEW MAP

The new book by Daniel Yergin has some great thoughts on renewables 2020 and beyond. Worth a read if you are an energy transition person. I thought it light on hydropower and microgrids.

SUSTAIN AND SAVE

Great organization based in India. Young people attacking a major issue with their “Change Makers Program.

PROTOTYPE UPDATE

The planning for our prototype demonstration unit is underway. The general location is shown below. We are showing the link because when you click on the link you will see the various sites which might suit our device launch.

We have a potential partner for the project and we hope to be able to announce them next month.

PIVOT

It is time to add some arrows to our quiver. Now that we have the strategy mapped out for our river turbine we will now focus on adding additional renewable energy devices to our company.

We seem to have confused people previously by not being clear in our approach to renewables. We are not a manufacturer but a solutions provider. We need to make that clearer in our presentations.

Watch this space for further progress notes and hopefully not too many pivots.
